The Intersections of Tort and Compensation Law

Invitation for proposals to present

When: Thursday 13 February and Friday 14 February 2025

Hybrid event: University of Auckland Law School and Online

We invite Tort and Compensation system researchers and teachers in Australia and New Zealand to join us in Auckland or online on 13-14 February 2025 to share research and teaching approaches about tort law, and compensation systems. We are delighted to be joined by The Honourable Sir Stephen Kós KNZM and The Honourable Justice Peter Applegarth AM, who will provide their insight on these important issues from the perspective of the bench.

The symposium is sponsored by the Law Futures Centre Griffith Law School and the University of Auckland Faculty of Law. There will be no conference fee for attendees who are selected to present at the symposium. Travel and accommodation expenses will be at the cost of participants. There will be many opportunities for networking and practice sharing provided over the two days of the symposium.

We welcome contributions which reflect a wide range of topics and approaches including doctrinal, theoretical, critical, empirical, reform and social justice, and pedagogical. We are particularly interested in providing opportunities for early career researchers and teachers to present their work and network with other colleagues.

If you are interested in presenting at the symposium, please click this link or scan the QR code to complete this form and submit prior to 22 November 2024 as we have limited space available in the programme and venue.
